

Chronic Brain Injury Program

Request for Resource Award Proposals

The Chronic Brain Injury (CBI) Program supports innovative and interdisciplinary discovery that advances chronic brain injury care and recovery. CBI will provide awards of up to $100,000.00 to support teams of investigators to acquire shared resources, which includes equipment, personnel, services, or other relevant resources that enhance the research and clinical capabilities of the CBI community.

Requirements

Purpose: Applicants must provide a detailed description of proposed new resources that directly benefit the research activities of multiple CBI faculty affiliates representing 2 or more Ohio State colleges. Applicants may propose to use these funds to fully acquire the target resource, or may leverage these funds as cost-sharing for larger investments.

Applicants: Applications must be led by a CBI Faculty Affiliate and list all faculty-level users of the proposed resource. Nationwide Children's Hospital faculty are considered as representing a distinct college separate from the Ohio State College of Medicine.

Budget: Applicants must provide a budget and narrative describing costs, any revenue generated, and sustainability plans. Applicants must describe any funding sources providing cost-sharing funds for the proposed resource, including amount committed and any related restrictions or requirements of the funder.

Novel Resources: Applicants should propose a new resource, but are allowed to propose acquiring or developing resources that may currently exist on campus. If the resource is not novel, the applicant(s) must describe how additional investments will significantly improve CBI affiliates' research capabilities. Applicants should describe expected benefits for research and/or education activities, and list all faculty who will directly benefit from this investment.

Reporting: Applicants must describe key metrics used to evaluate the impact of the proposed resource, including metrics related to utilization, collaboration, and future grant funding. If awarded, applicants must collect and report these metrics to CBI annually for a 3-year period.
