Traumatic optic neuropathy (TON) is a common consequence of head trauma which is currently untreatable, at least in part due to the lack of a relevant animal model. We have therefore developed rodent and pre-clinical (lagomorph) animal models which have been used to develop diagnostic criteria using electrophysiology. We are currently investigating the use of candidate therapeutics for TON in these models.

1 CME & Nursing CEU available, email pissocra.4@osu.edu

Need an accommodation? Email us: cbi@osu.edu

Friday, March 22, 2024, 9:30AM | BRT 105| Bagels & Coffee